

Insights on the Depression and Anxiety

Volume: 2, Issue: 1

Research Article

Published Date: 09/11/2018

Anti-anxiety effects in mice following acute administration of Ficus Thoningii \(wild fig\)

<h2>Abstract</h2>

The effect of acute administration of ethanol extract of F. thoningii on anxiety and fear in Swiss white mice was studied. 30 adult Swiss white mice of both sexes were randomly divided in to three groups of 10 mice each.

Group1 served as the control and was ...

Research Article

Published Date: 07/24/2018

Mindset kinetics and some depression status: A new quantitative model under biochemical - toxicology approach?

<h2>Abstract</h2>

Depression: According Pubmed Health: Depression is a state of low mood

and aversion to activity that can affect a person’s thoughts, behavior, feelings and sense of well-being

(moderate or severe).

...

Review Article

Published Date: 04/24/2018

Responding to Disasters More than economic and infrastructure interventions

<h2>Abstract</h2>

Objectives: Natural disasters confront individuals, communities and governments with the challenge of rebuilding and addressing psychosocial sequelae. With the increasing number of natural disasters it is timely to evaluate the e...

Research Article

Published Date: 03/16/2018

Vestibular-limbic relationships Brain mapping

<h2>Abstract</h2>

Vestibular disorders and anxiety are closely related, probably because they share some neuronal pathways.

Insights on the Depression and Anxiety

Volume: 2, Issue: 1

Ageing and patient comorbidities are important facilitating factors, and multiple vascular risk factors could contribute to the onset of a vestibular sy...

Case Report

Published Date: 02/12/2018

May we feed cancer?

<h2>Abstract</h2>

The patient with an oncological disease presents a series of discomforts related to the psychological sphere such as depression, pain, sense of usefulness, anger, but also inconveniences related to food sphere. Neoplastic disease interferes with eating behav...